

Mash brings two-cylinder team

Mash will be launching a two-cylinder bike with a displacement of 494 cubic centimetres and 54 hp (40 kW). The model, called the B-Side 500, has five forward gears and one reverse gear as well as a front swing arm and an 18-liter tank. The weight is stated as 345 kilograms. The Mash B-Side will be available from April and costs just under 12,523 euros. The well-known 400cc Black Side model will remain in the range. (aum)
